Falcon K Series cylindrical lock to discontinue

As Falcon continues to make room in the portfolio for future improvement and an optimized offering that meets market and customer needs, we plan to discontinue the K series Grade 1 cylindrical lock. Effective November 1, 2024 (or as inventory allows), orders of the K Series lock will no longer be accepted. For current open specification projects, our sales team will be working with customers to ensure a smooth transition.

Recommended replacements:

Falcon currently offers three other cylindrical locks in the portfolio, including the Falcon T, W, and B Series locks. The Falcon T grade 1 lock is the recommended Grade 1 substitute, offering equivalent mechanical and electrified functions, options, finishes, and lever designs, as well as cylinders options. It also offers the same BHMA, UL 3-hour fire-door certification, and door prep. The Falcon W Series Grade 2 lock offers the benefit of a considerably lower price point for less heavy-duty or high-traffic application requirements.

Here's how they compare:

Grade 1 Falcon K Series:	Grade 1 Falcon T Series:	Grade 2 Falcon W Series:
